Objectives:

1. To convey the basics of Ayurveda to the students.
2. To provide information about finding the body constitution in ayurveda.
3. To educate students in knowing their own unique Ayurvedic body type.

Ayurveda is more than just a popular form of alternative medicine. It is a system of holistic healing unlike any other. Thought to be over five thousand years old, Ayurvedic medicine teaches us to see the world as it relates to the elements or doshas of vata, pitta, and kapha. According to Ayurveda, everyone is born with a mixture of these three doshas. Determining your primary dosha is the first step towards finding your optimal state of balanced, natural health. This involves learning about your relationship with the elements and the unique combinations they create called doshas. So, to introduce our students about their body constitution about ayurveda a guest lecture on “Understanding Body Constitution in Ayurveda” by Dr. Babasaheb D. Patil Sir was arranged by TPO (All Round Development Cell) on 19th Oct. 2022.
