Introduction

The 25th of September is designated each year as World Pharmacists Day. The 12th World Pharmacists Day will be celebrated on September 25, 2022. "Pharmacy united in action for healthier world" is the topic for World Pharmacists Day in 2022. On World Pharmacist Day, various events are held throughout the globe to raise awareness of the value of medical professionals and to help people realizing the critical role that a pharmacist plays in the community.

The World Pharmacists Day is a chance to share how pharmacists are working together to improve health in their communities by providing a range of healthcare services, such as counselling on healthy lifestyle choices, administering vaccinations to prevent disease, and monitoring medication administration. The FIP Council established World Pharmacists Day in 2009 in Istanbul. FIP urges all pharmacists to use that day to plan events that support and advocate for the role of the pharmacist in enhancing health in all nations. The significance and function of a pharmacist were also raised on this day.
