Objectives of Program

- ✓ To encourage youth awareness of voting.
- ✓ To illustrate the benefits of being a voter and the act of voting.
- ✓ To emphasize our role as citizens in choosing the right political party.
- ✓ To raise awareness about not wasting votes.
- ✓ To emphasize that obtaining a voter ID after the age of 18 is not an option but a duty.

About the program

The NSS volunteers of Yashwantrao Bhonsale College, Sawantwadi, organized a program for the "Awareness of Voting and its Benefits," in the presence of different colleges from the Sindhudurg District and their respective staff members. Distinguished personalities and speakers from various professions, including acting, literature teaching, social work, photography, as well as the Principal and Chief Election Commissioner, were invited as guests, along with the District Magistrate Mr. Kishor Tawde and our Chairman Mr. Achyut Sawant Bhonsale.

The primary objective of this program was to emphasize the importance of voting for every eligible individual (18 years and above). In our country, many people neglect the significance of voting in elections, often wasting this crucial civic duty instead of electing a superior party that could benefit us as citizens in the future and contribute to making our country a better place.

The distinguished guests interacted with the audience in a simplistic manner, ensuring that every student and individual present could comprehend the information. This event marked the 11th part of their Democratic talk series held on our campus. The program began with an introduction session, followed by a felicitation ceremony and floral welcome. The discussion then moved to the topic of "Voting," delving into rights and eligibility.

As this segment of the program approached its conclusion, we distributed pieces of paper to the audience for them to write down their questions. These were then collected and randomly posed to the guests. Breakfast and water were provided to the audience, NSS members, and faculty. The members collaborated to distribute lunch boxes, prioritizing the guests and audience, and they were the last to eat lunch.

The success of the entire program hinged on the support of each other and teamwork. Games like snakes and ladders were arranged with rules related to voter rights and their importance. Photo booths were set up to make the session more interactive, and street plays were performed on the college campus.

Programs of this nature are crucial for raising awareness. When speakers from various professions engage the audience, participants become more involved, and our volunteers are excited to contribute their energy and enthusiasm to these events.
